Democracy is one of the American's most prized possessions. Protected by a constitution which is soon to see its one hundred and fiftieth year, it has become firmly established in this country.

Today, democracies become dictatorships with alarming ease. In certain foreign nations, no person is at any time secure in his rights. War and revolution are common and school children receive military training as part of the curriculum. In these countries, government to a great extent dictates the policies of the school systems.

The student government of Benjamin Franklin High School is truly a model democracy. Here individual students may share in their school government, take an active part in supervised extra-curricular activities, and even have something to say in regard to their studies. With such training a student is well fitted to assume the great responsibilities of citizenship later on.

A bitter struggle was waged to bring to the people of this nation the rights and privileges to which every free man is entitled. This book is dedicated, therefore, to the constitution of the United States and the spirit of democracy which have operated to keep these rights and privileges secure so that the youth of today may not only possess this rich heritage but may also look forward to a future such as free men enjoy.

THE PRESIDENT

We are honored in the privilege of opening our Key with portraits of Mr. Butterfield and Mr. Wolgast. Because of their unselfish devotion to our advancement and their sincere interest in us individually, their place in our hearts will remain secure.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The cause of democracy advances with difficulty, suffers setbacks at times and places, and at present is under attack over wide areas. We are of those who believe in the dignity and worth of individuals, and that these are recognized best in a democratic system. Knowledge, courage and conscience are required that we may prove our faith by works—knowledge that we may act wisely in the light of man's previous experiences; courage that we may stand by our convictions even though we be of a minority; and conscience that we may measure our acts and our ambitions by the rule of the common good.

The Junto and the executive council are symbols of democracy in our school government. The Junto consists of two representatives from each home room, elected each term. They meet to offer such criticisms and ideas for the betterment of school affairs as are suggested by their classmates. The president, vice-president, and secretary of the school hold the same respective offices in the Junto. From the newly-elected Junto, six representatives from the senior high and two from the junior high classes are chosen to make up the executive council. Under the guidance of faculty advisers the executive council makes suggestions which are submitted to the Junto for final approval. All students are welcome at Junto meetings, and are urged to voice their opinions.

The Franklin chapter of the National Honor Society was formed in the first year of our school's existence and is one of many similar groups throughout the country. Those chosen for membership in the Honor Craft Guild are students who possess scholarship, citizenship, sportsmanship, and craftsmanship. The purpose of the organization is to encourage students in the practical arts. The Guild teaches an appreciation of the ancient and traditional dignity of the crafts. By safeguarding the practical values in education, it helps serious and responsible students to face the problem of securing necessary training for life. The Guild acknowledges a debt of gratitude to Mr. Judson Decker and his department for their valuable guidance.

The purpose of the Renaissance Society is to promote interest in Italian culture, to bring to its members through lectures and social gatherings the spirit of American institutions, and to carry these messages directly and indirectly to the parents. The presentation of Italian plays to the general public has enabled ten or more members to receive scholarship aid for work in college. The excellent leadership of Mr. DeFrancesco has made it possible for the society to perform immeasurable service to the school and the community.

THE SENIOR PLAY

It is with particular pleasure that we announce the outstanding success of our senior play, "The Patsy." In the absence of Mr. Erle Remington, whose serious illness was lamented by the entire class, Mr. Edward Prior was called upon to complete the direction of the production. The fine performance, on March 25, gave adequate proof that the cast, the staff, and the new director were willing and able to work well together under difficulties. To these, and especially to Mr. Remington and Mr. Prior, we offer congratulations and our sincere thanks.

THE KEY

The Key is Franklin's senior annual. It is published primarily as a record of school activity, but to us it becomes a token by which we may remember the days spent in the Benjamin Franklin High School. We, the editors for June 1938, have endeavored to make this edition one which our fellow students may value and which we may cherish for many years to come.

THE A CAPPELLA CHOIR

The large number of students enrolled in the A Cappella Choir and other choral organizations is evidence of the great interest shown in vocal music at Benjamin Franklin High School. The A Cappella Choir, trained by Mr. Marlowe Smith, has earned a reputation in our community and in our state of which we may well be proud.

THE BAND

Under the very able direction of Mr. Karl Van Hoesen Benjamin Franklin High School has always been able to display well trained bands and orchestras. These organizations do work of a high order, and their performance in our regular school assemblies is greatly appreciated by us all. Our colorful band is present at all sports events with agile drum majors and clever formations.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

- We are pleased to present the following message from Mr. Carl G. Chamberlain, head of the health education department.

Carl G. Chamberlain

We of Franklin High School have been most fortunate in that our representative interscholastic teams have always kept us in a favorable light before the general public. Every true Franklinite appreciates the long hours of practice and hard work which our representatives put in to the end that we may have teams that shall exhibit strong qualities not of athletic skill alone, but of personal character as well.

It is the aim of the physical education department to offer a program of activities that will interest every boy and girl in our school. In many respects, the recreation program of the 7th and 8th periods provides a laboratory for the exercise in game situations of those lessons in citizenship that have been learned during the first six periods of the day. In addition, the recreation program provides a desirable outlet for physical energies; affords fun for all and so adds to the joy of living; is valuable from the standpoint of physical activity that builds sturdy bodies; and is a great reservoir from which we draw the most skilful exponents of the various sports for membership on the Varsity teams.

Whatever athletic success we have enjoyed has been due to the whole hearted interest and co-operation of every pupil and teacher in the Franklin family.

BASKETBALL

Sectional Champions for the last two years, the Benjamin Franklin High School basketball team, under the tutelage of their great coach Mr. Burns Beach, has always been a powerful one in the Rochester Scholastic League. And still more important, they are noted not only for their skillful ball handling, but also for their fine spirit and sportsmanship.

TRACK

Our track teams have made an excellent record; some unusual athletes have had their start at Franklin. Perhaps more than any other sport, track demands rigid preparation. Under the direction of Mr. Charles Colburn, the boys are trained not only for strength and endurance, but also for the desirable qualities of perseverance and mental alertness.

BASEBALL

The Benjamin Franklin High School furnishes no exception to the statement that baseball is the great American game. Besides placing strong combinations on the diamond, Franklin has sent several students possessing special ability into the world of professional baseball. Mr. Torrens, our able coach, instructs all baseball prospects in good sportsmanship as well as in the fundamentals of the game.

The high school students of today are the citizens of tomorrow. It is well, therefore, that their education is now so guided as better to fit them for assuming the great responsibilities of later life. We are thankful for these opportunities and hope that we have profited by them, to the end that we may appreciate and support effectively our great democracy. The following pages will attempt to show, from the student's viewpoint, various aspects of democracy as compared with certain other forms of government.

The American public is suffering from a great literary stomachache. Into the normal, every day reading diet of millions of citizens, a large amount of foreign propaganda seems to have been injected under the guise of pure American thought and expression. It has been extremely hard to digest and it has caused much trouble. Money has been seeping out of the United States to aid belligerent nations. People have deprived themselves of certain small comforts in order to boycott others. All this is detrimental to the best interests of the country as a whole. Who can say but that such things are caused by propaganda? It is up to the American people to help protect our democracy from foreign influence through the simple expedient of thinking while they read.

There are a great many people who complain about the amount of advertising on the radio today. Perhaps they don't realize how fortunate they are. In other countries, where censorship and suppression prevail, the government takes most of the broadcasting time for the spreading of propaganda. The people must take it and like it. Here, because of wise supervision by a federal commission, radio stations, privately owned, may be operated in the interest of the public, to the benefit of both listener and advertiser. Since competition exists, stations must maintain high standards of quality. As a result, at almost any time both day and night, one is able to find a variety of excellent programs; he may listen to what programs he wishes, or he may not listen at all; such is democracy.

THE SOURCE OF POWER

Benjamin Franklin, the guiding influence in the conception of democracy in America, had faith. The "sage of the convention" together with his discerning contemporaries built the skeleton of American democracy. They could do no more. It was posterity's task to give it substance and life. It is our task to sustain its life. Benjamin Franklin uttered the watchwords; we shall reëcho them: "God governs in the affairs of men. If a sparrow can not fall to the ground without His notice, is it probable an empire can rise without His aid?"

If we are firm in the principles of democracy which we have inherited, with His aid the voice of freedom in our nation will rise above the battle cry of bloody revolution. Democracy in the hands of an enlightened people is a tool, an effective tool in a chaotic world. In other countries the mass thought and action, resulting from standardized entertainment on radio and screen, from censored newspapers, and from advertising, have been instrumental in repressing the masses, but where repression exists, revolution threatens.

The merits of democracy are often intangible. Its ultimate values can be achieved only through intelligent participation in the activities which it implies. Democracy tends to develop within us a consciousness of the political, social, and economic conditions essential to the advance and progress of a nation. Religious freedom, freedom of speech and press, as well as the right of assembly, are privileges which in turn exact a high degree of moral responsibility. Democracy can not fail unless we, as a people, fail.

Mary Jane Allen

LIMERICKS

Klimaszewski's a boy of great height—
J'worski's bark's worse than his bite—
When we put them together
Like birds of a feather
Our team always won in the fight.

John Foster, your fate is decided—
All the teachers your arguments chided,
But as President some day
You'll have plenty to say
And we'll be glad t'was with you that we sided.

Mr. Wolgast or shall we say "Wolly"
Who reprimands failure and folly
Suggests with a smile
A cure for each wile
And always is jovial and jolly.

"Chuck" Kamin is first in our class.
He rivals the best from the mass.
His powers expansive
His interests extensive
Are keys and his genius a pass.

MORE DEMOCRACY—THE NEED OF TODAY

Although most American citizens enjoy the benefits afforded by our democratic government and our high standard of living, many, perplexed by our modern paradox of want amidst plenty, have criticized our economic, social, and political systems. We admit the existence of abuses, but we declare that the American people can correct them as shown by their thus far successful fight for greater democracy and social justice. Because the current communistic and Fascist propaganda offers a "cure-all," let us examine briefly communism and Fascism.

Today in Soviet Russia distinct inequality, actual oppression, and dictatorship exist in contradiction to the promises of communism, which now strikes at the very moral fiber of the people by its materialistic attitude and utter disregard of God and spiritual life. The millions who have been allowed to starve needlessly and the wretched living conditions of the average Russian remain a mockery to the avowed purpose of communism—to equalize the distribution of the fruits of production.

Fascism, jeopardizing world peace today, is a totalitarian form of government with every economic, social, and political aspect of the nation subject to strict state regimentation under which wages and the standard of living have been lowered considerably, and taxes and prices increased exorbitantly.

In striking contrast, our American democratic government, based upon a separation of powers between the federal and state governments, upon a division of powers among executive, legislative, and judicial departments, and upon the Supreme Court as the final interpreter of the Constitution, has furnished the political basis of our nation's expansion—a development without parallel in the history of democracy and one which has made us one of the most prosperous and contented nations on earth. During the past century religious, property, and tax-paying qualifications for voting have been abolished, and powerful blows have been struck for more direct government by the adoption of the direct primary, the initiative, referendum, recall, and by the addition of constitutional amendments providing for woman's suffrage and the direct election of United States senators.

As we contemplate these democratic victories, we realize that the battle, although far from won, has secured for us greater economic, social, and political advantages than are possible under any other form of government. Let us therefore hold fast to our democratic tradition and continue this struggle for the realization of all the principles of democracy.

Raymond Flugel

In Franklin High we place our trust,
The source of our life's aim:
We crown with honors fair and just
Our Alma Mater's name.
Let steady foresight point the way
And care our actions lead;
Our deeds and not our words will lay
Foundations of our creed.

With loyalty to Franklin High,
With harmony in thought,
We shall with single purpose strive
For strength in honors sought.
Let hope acknowledge no defeat,
And friendship be our rule;
Let time with measured march repeat
The spirit of our school.
